DESCENDANTS OF
THOMAS WHEELER,
OF CONCORD, MASS.

1. CAPT. THOMAS WHEELER, of Concord, Mass. This "gallant and intrepid" Indian fighter was among the most interesting and important characters of our colonial period, and was preëminent among the few pioneers through whose restless daring the frontiers of the Massachusetts Bay Colony were so persistently extended.

He was born in England. The date of his arrival in America and the name of the ship in which he came are not known. Several historians assert that he was a resident of Concord as early as 1640, and even before this date he was in this country trading among the Indians. The first written record that refers to him, however, is in May 18, 1642, when he took the oath of freeman at Concord, Mass.

The first definite information concerning his trading with the Indians is on July 1st, 1657, when, with three others, he bought from the colony the privilege of trading with the Indians, paying therefor the sum of £25.

These trading operations he conducted principally along the Merrimac River at a point which afterward became Nashua, N. H., where, it is recorded, he and his son Lt. Joseph owned a farm "a little south of the Salmon brood." Upon this estate he lived with his son a portion of the time until at least as late a date as Sept. 19th, 1673, when they both, with 24 others, appear as signers of a petition to the General Court for 14,000 acres of land which was granted to them. It is evident that in these operations Capt. Thomas did not give up his official position in Concord, nor his residence there, with its thirteen acre "house lot," for upon the formation of a Horse Company he was appointed Lieut. Oct. 12, 1669, and by further appointment became its Captain in 1671.

On January 12th, 1669, he received from the town of Concord, a lease for twenty-one years, of 200 acres of upland and 60 acres of meadows lying west of Nashoba Brook; he to pay a yearly rental of £5 after the expiration of seven years, and to build a house and barn. The house was to be 40 feet long, 18 feet wide, and 12 feet stud, "covrd with shingles, with a payer of Chimes." That there must have been a dispute over this lease is evidenced by what appears in the "Copy of Instructions" given to the Concord selectmen in 1672, viz.: "5 — To treat with Capt. Thomas Wheeler about his lease of the Townes Farme and if it may be upon Reasonable Termes to alter that particular wherein the Towne is Jn Jnoyned to send such a number cattle yearly to be herded yearly by him."

He was one of the original proprietors of the Ockoocangansett Plantation — the land purchase from the Indians which became part of Marlborough, Mass. His high standing is proved by the important part taken by him in the direction of the welfare of the various communities in which he dwelt; on several occasions being one of those to take title from the Indians, and to hold in trust, lands intended for the establishment of new colonies. His greatest historical prominence was reached during King Philip's War in which he took a very active part, receiving wounds of so severe a character that he died the following year. This exciting encounter he made the subject of the following "Narrative," often referred to as an "epic of colonial times."

A True Narrative of the Lord's Providences in various dispensations towards Captain Edward Hutchinson of Boston and myself, and those that went with us into the Nipmuck Country, and also to Quaboag, alias Brookfield: The said Captain Hutchinson having a Commission from the Honored Council of this Colony to treat with several Sachems in those parts, in order to the public peace, and myself being also ordered by the said Council, to accompany him with part of my troop for security from any danger that might be from the Indians: and to assist him in the transaction of matter committed to him.

The said Captain Hutchinson, and myself, with about twenty men or more marched from Cambridge to Sudbury, July 28, 1675; and from thence into the Nipmuck Country, and finding that the Indians had deserted their towns, and we having gone until we came within two miles of New Norwich, on July 31 (only we saw two Indians having an horse with them, whom we would have spoke with, but they fled from us and left the horse, which we took,) we then thought it not expedient to march any further that way, but set our march for Brookfield, whither we came on Lord's day about noon. From thence the same day, (being August 1,) we understanding that the Indians were about ten miles north west from us, we sent out four men to acquaint the Indians that we were not come to harm them, but our business was only to deliver a Message from our Honored Governor and Council to them, and to receive their answer, we desiring to come to a Treaty of Peace with them, (though they had for several days fled from us,) they having before professed friendship, and promised fidelity to the English. When the messengers came to them they made an alarm, and gathered together about an hundred and fifty fighting men as near as they could judge. The young men amongst them were stout in their speeches, and surly in their carriage. But at length some of the chief Sachems promised to meet us on the next morning about 8 of the clock upon a plain within three miles of Brookfield, with which answer the messengers returned to us. Whereupon, though their speeches and carriage did much discourage divers of our company, yet we conceived that we had a clear call to go to meet them at the place whither they had promised to come. Accordingly we with our men accompanied with three of the principal inhabitants of that town marched to the plain appointed; but the treacherous heathen intending mischief, (if they could have opportunity,) came not to the said place, and so failed our hopes of speaking with them there. Whereupon the said Captain Hutchinson and myself, with the rest of our company, considered what was best to be done, whether we should go any further towards them or return, divers of us apprehending much danger in case we did proceed, because the Indians kept not promise there with us. But the three men who belonged to Brookfield were so strongly persuaded of their freedom from any ill intentions towards us, (as upon other bounds, so especially because the greatest part, of those Indians belonged to David, one of their chief Sachems, who was taken to be a great friend to the English :) that the said Captain Hutchinson who was principally intrusted with the matter of Treaty with them, was thereby encouraged to proceed and march forward towards a Swamp where the Indians then were. When we came near the said swamp, the way was so very bad that we could march only in a single file, there being a very rocky hill on the right hand, and a thick swamp on the left, in which there were many of those cruel blood-thirsty heathen, who there way laid us, waiting an opportunity to cut us off; there being also much brush on the side of the said hill, where they lay in ambush to surprize us. When we had marched there about sixty or seventy rods the said Perfidious Indians sent out their shot upon us as a shower of hail, they being, (as was supposed,) about two hundred men or more. We seeing ourselves not enter with our horses to go forwards, and there being no safety of our lives. In which flight we were in no small danger to be all cut off, there being a very miry swamp before us, into which we could not enter with our horses to go forwards, and there being no safety in retreating the way we came, because many of our company, who lay behind the bushes, and had let us pass by them quietly; when others had shot, they came out, and stopt our way back, so that we were forced as we could to get up the steep and rocky hill; but the greater our danger was, the greater was God's mercy in the preservation of so many of us from sudden destruction. Myself being gone up part of the hill without any hurt, and perceiving some of my men to be fallen by the enemies' shot, I wheeled about upon the Indians, not calling on my men who were left to accompany me, which they in all probability would have done had they known of my return upon the enemy. They fired violently out of the swamp, and from behind the bushes on the hill side wounded me sorely, and shot my horse under me, so that he faltering and falling, I was forced to leave him, divers of the Indians being then but a few rods distant from me. My son Thomas Wheeler flying with the rest of the company, missed me amongst them, and fearing that I was either slain or much endangered, returned towards the swamp again, though he had then received a dangerous wound in the loins, where he saw me in the danger aforesaid. Whereupon he endeavored to rescue me, shewing himself therein a loving and dutiful son, he adventuring himself into great peril of his life to help me in that distress, there being many of the enemies about me, my son set me on his own horse, and so escaped a while on foot himself, until he caught an horse whose rider was slain, on which he mounted, and so through God's great mercy we both escaped. But in this attempt for my deliverance he received another dangerous wound by their shot in his left arm. There were then slain to our great grief eight men, viz.—Zechariah Phillips of Boston, Timothy Farlow, of Billericay, Edward Coleborn, of Chelmsford, Samuel Smedly, of Concord, Sydrach Hopgood, of Sudbury, Serjeant Eyres, Serjeant Prichard, and Corporal Coy, the inhabitants of Brookfield, aforesaid. It being the good pleasure of God, that they should all there fall by their hands, of whose good intentions they were so confident, and whom they so little mistrusted. There were also then five persons wounded, viz:—Captain Hutchinson, myself, and my son Thomas, as aforesaid, Corporal French of Billericay, who having killed an Indian, was (as he was taking up his gun), shot, and part of one of his thumbs taken off, and also dangerously wounded through the body near the shoulder; the fifth was John Waldoe, of Chelmsford, who was not so dangerously wounded as the rest. They also then killed five of our horses, and wounded some more which soon died after they came to Brookfield. Upon this sudden and unexpected blow given us, (wherein we desire to look higher than man the instrument,) we returned to the town as fast as the badness of the way, and the weakness of our wounded men would permit, we being then ten miles from it. All the while we were going, we durst not stay to stanch the bleeding of our wounded men, for fear the enemy should have surprized us again, which they attempted to do, and had in probability done, but that we perceiving which way they went, wheeled off to the other hand, and so by God's good providence towards us, they missed us, and we all came readily upon, and safely to the town, though none of us knew the way to it; those of the place being slain, as aforesaid, and we avoiding any thick woods and riding in open places to prevent danger by them. Being got to the town, we speedily betook ourselves to one of the largest and strongest houses therein, where we fortified ourselves in the best manner we could in such straits of time, and there resolved to keep garrison, though we were but few, and meanly fitted to make resistance against so furious enemies. The news of the Indians' treacherous dealing with us, and the loss of so many of our company thereby, did so amaze the inhabitants of the town, that they being informed thereof by us, presently left their houses, divers of them carrying very little away with them, they being afraid of the Indians sudden coming upon them; and so came to the house we were entered into, very meanly provided of cloathing or furnished with provisions.

I perceiving myself to be disenabled for the discharge of the duties of my place by reason of the wound I had received, and apprehending that the enemy would soon come to spoil the town and assault us in the house, I appointed Simon Davis, of Concord, James Richardson, and John Fiske, of Chelmsford to manage affairs for our safety with those few men whom God hath left us, and were fit for any service, and the inhabitants of the said town; who did well and commendably perform the duties of the trust committed to them with much courage and resolution through the assistance of our gracious God, who did not leave us in our low and distressed state, but did mercifully appear for us in our greatest need, as in the sequel will clearly be manifested. Within two hours after our coming to the said house, or less, the said Captain Hutchinson and myself posted away Epraim Curtis, of Sudbury, and Henry Young, of Concord, to go to the Honored Council at Boston, to give them an account of the Lord's dealing with us, and our present condition. When they came to the further end of the town they saw the enemy rifling of houses which the inhabitants had forsaken. The post fired upon them, and immediately return to us again, they discerning no safety in going forward and being desirous to inform us of the enemies' actings, that we might the more prepare for a sudden assault by them. Which indeed presently followed, for as soon as the said post was come back to us, the barbarous heathen pressed upon us in the house with great violence, sending in their shot amongst us like hail, through the walls, and shouting as if they would have swallowed us up alive; but our good God wrought wonderfully for us, so that there was but one man wounded within the house, viz.—the said Henry Young, who, looking out of the garret window that evening, was mortally wounded by a shot, of which he died within two days after. There was the same day another man slain, but not in the house; a son of Serjeant Prichard's adventuring out of the house wherein we were, to his father's house not far from it, to fetch more goods out of it, was caught by these cruel enemies as they were coming towards us, who cut off his head, kicking it about like a foot-ball, and then putting it upon a poke, they set it up before the door of his father's house in our sight.

The night following the said blow, they did roar against us like so many wild bulls, sending in their shot amongst us till towards the moon rising, which was about three of the clock; at which time they attempted to fire our house by hay and other combustible matter which they brought to one corner of the house, and set it on fire. Whereupon some of our company were necessitated to expose themselves to very great danger to put it out. Simon Davis, one of the three appointed by myself as Captain, to supply my place by reason of my wounds, as aforesaid, he being of a lively spirit, encouraged the soldiers within the house to fire upon the Indians; and also those that adventured out to put out the fire, (which began to rage and kindle upon the house side,) with these and the like words, that God is with us, and fights for us, and will deliver us out of the hands of these heathen; which expressions of his the Indians hearing, they shouted and scoffed, saying; now see how your God delivers you, or will deliver you, sending in many shots whilst our men were putting out the fire. But the Lord of Hosts wrought very graciously for us, in preserving our bodies both within and without the house from their shot, and our house from being consumed by fire, we had but two men wounded in that attempt of theirs, but we apprehended that we killed divers of our enemies. I being desirous to hasten intelligence to the Honored Council, of our present great distress, we being so remot from any succor, (it being between sixty and seventy miles from us to Boston, where the Council useth to sit) and fearing our ammunition would not last long to withstand them, if they continued so to assault us, I spake to Ephraim Curtis to adventure forth again on that service, and to attempt it on foot, as the way wherein there was most hope of getting away undiscovered; he readily assented, and accordingly went out, but there were so many Indians every where thereabouts, that he could not pass, without apparent hazard of life, so he came back again, but towards morning the said Ephraim adventured forth the third time, and was fain to dleep on his hands and knees for some space of ground, that he might not be discerned by the enemy, who waited to prevent our sending if they could have hindered it. But through God's mercy he escaped their hands, and got safely to Marlborough, though very much spent and ready to faint by reason of want of sleep before he went from us, and his sore travel night and day in that hot season till he got thither, from whence he went to Boston; yet before the said Ephraim got to Marlborough, there was intelligence brought thither of the burning of some houses, and killing some cattle at Quabaug, by some who were going to Connecticut, but they seeing what was done at the end of the town, and hearing several guns shot off further within the town, they durst proceed no further, but immediately returned to Marlborough, though they then knew not what had befallen Captain Hutchinson and myself, and company, nor of our being there, but that timely intelligence they gave before Ephraim Curtis his coming to Marlborough, occasioned the Honored Major Willard's turning his march towards Quabaug, for their relief who were in no small danger every hour of being destroyed; the said Major being, when he had that intelligence, upon his march another way, as he was ordered by the Honored Council, as is afterwards more fully expressed.

The next day being August 3rd, they continued shooting and shouting, and proceeding in their former wickedness, blaspheming the name of the Lord, and reproaching us, his afflicted servants, scoffing at our prayers as they were sending in their shot upon all quarters of the house and many of them went to the town's meeting house, (which was within twenty rods of the house in which we were) who mocked saying, come and pray, and sing psalms, and in contempt made an hideous noise somewhat resembling singing. But we, to our power, did endeavor our defence, sending our shot amongst them, the Lord giving us courage to resist them, and preserving us from the destruction they sought to bring upon us. On the evening following, we saw our enemies carrying several of their dead or wounded men on their backs, who proceeded that night to send in their shot, as they had done the night before, and also still shouted as if the day had been certainly theirs, and they should without fail, have prevailed against us, which they might have the more hopes of in regard that we discerned the coming of new companies to them to assist and strengthen them, and the unlikelihood of any coming to our help. They also used several stratagems to fire us; namely, by wild fire in cotton and linen rags with brimstone in them, which rags they tyed to the piles of their arrows, sharp for the purpose, and shot them to the roof of our house, after they had set them on fire, which would have much endangered the burning thereof, had we not used means of cutting holes through the roof, and otherwise, to beat the said arrows down, and God being pleased to prosper our endeavors therein. They carried more combustible matter, as flax and hay, to the sides of the house, and set it on fire, and then flocked apace towards the door of the house, either to prevent our going forth to quench the fire, as we had done before, or to kill our men in their attempt to go forth, or else to break into the house by the door; whereupon we were forced to break down the wall of the house against the fire to put it out. They also shot a ball of wild fire into the garret of the house, which fell amongst a great heap of flax or tow therein, which one of our soldiers, through God's good Providence espyed, and having water ready presently quenched it; and so we were preserved by the keeper of Israel, both our bodies from their shot, which they sent thick against us, and the house from being consumed to ashes, although we were but weak to defend ourselves, we being not above twenty and six men with those of that small town, who were able for any service, and our enemies, as I judged them about, (if not above,) three hundred, I speak of the least, for many there present did guess them to be four or five hundred. It is the more to be observed, that so little hurt should be done by the enemies' shot, it commonly piercing the walls of the house, and flying amongst the people, and there being in the house fifty women and children besides the men before mentioned. But abroad in the yard, one Thomas Wilson of that town, being sent to fetch water for our help in further need, (that which we had being spent in putting out the fire,) was shot by the enemy in the upper jaw and in the neck, the anguish of which wound was such at the first that he cried out with a great noise, by reason whereof the Indians hearing him rejoiced, and triumphed at it; but his wound was healed in a short time, praised be God.

On Wednesday, August the 4th, the Indians fortified themselves at the meeting house, and the barn, belonging to our house, which they fortified both at the great doors, and at both ends, with posts, rails, boards, and hay, to save themselves from our shot. They also devised other stratagems, to fire out house, on the night following, namely, they took a cart, and filled it with flax, hay and candle-wood, and other combustible matter, and set up planks, fastened to the cart, to save themselves from the danger of our shot. Another invention they had to make the more sure work in burning the house. They got many poles of a considerable length and bigness, and spliced them together at the ends one of another, and made a carriage of them about fourteen rods long, setting the poles in two rows, with peils laid across over them at the front end, and dividing them said poles about three foot asunder, and in the said front of this their carriage they set a barrel, having made an hole through both heads, and put an axel-tree through them, to which they fastened the said poles, and under every joint of the poles where they were spliced, they set up a pair of truckle wheels to bear up the said carriages, and they loaded the front or fore-end thereof with matter fit for firing, as hay, and flax, and chips, &c. Two of these instruments they prepared, that they might convey fire to the house, with the more safety to themselves, they standing at such a distance from our shot, whilst they wheeled them to the house: great store of arrows they had also prepared to shoot fire upon the house that night; which we found after they were gone, they having left them there. But the Lord who is a present help in times of trouble, and is pleased to make his people's extemity his opportunity, did graciously prevent them of effecting what they hoped they should have done by the aforesaid devices, partly by sending a shower of rain in season, whereby the matter prepared being wet would not so easily take fire as it otherwise would have done, and partly by aid coming to our help. For our danger would have been very great that night, had not the only wise God (blessed for ever) been pleased to send to us about an hour within night the worshipful Major Williard with Captain Parker of Groton, and forty-six men more with five Indians to relieve us in the low estate into which we were brought; our eyes were unto him the holy one of Israel; in him we desired to place our trust, hoping that he would in the time of our great need appear for our deliverance, and confound all their plots by which they thought themselves most sure to prevail against us; and God who comforteth the afflicted; as he comforted the holy apostle Paul by the coming of Titus to him, so he greatly comforted us his distressed servants both soldiers and town inhabitants, by the coming of the said Honored Major, and those with him. In whose so soon coming to us the good provi-

The pride of birth which claims unearned privilege is a very different mood from that which struggles to fulfil the noblesse oblige. The one is the spirit of decadence and looks feebly backward for support, the other is the spirit of unfolding and looks calmly forward through the eyes of duty toward a just fulfilment of the past. The inheritance of plain New England blood has brought us with it no titles and but scant possession of goods,— and no poring over the tables of genealogy is likely to bring us any more of either; but we shall gain thereby many a hint of what we are and why we are, and of the way by which we and our manner of thought have come. Long time has it been commended to us that a man should first know himself;— and in the tables of his ancestors, by the grace of God, lo, there he is.

PREFACE

It is well known to all genealogists that the dates found on town records frequently differ from those contained in family Bibles or given on gravestones. In some cases, indeed, two or three varying dates for the same event have been furnished by different members of the same family. In deciding which date is supported by the greatest weight of evidence, there is a possibility of error — such is absolutely unavoidable in a work of this kind, which deals with data more or less indeterminate.

This variance, as is hereinafter shown, is also true in the spelling of names. In the earlier generations these have been given as they appear on the records.

It was not until September, 1639, that the General Court of Massachusetts ordered that "records be kept of the days of every marriage, birth, and death of every person within this jurisdiction." No particular officer was charged with this duty and it is probable that the colonists were not always careful to make public registration of such matters. This is shown to be the case in Concord, Massachusetts, where from February 17, 1650, until February, 1654, no records are to be found either in the books of the Town or in those of the County, and even as late as 1686, 1687, and 1688, it is evident that if such records were kept at all, most of them were lost. The same condition is to be met with at some time in the records of all of the colonies in America, and this irregularity increases the difficulty of establishing the identity of many members of the family. In consequence many new adults are introduced into this genealogy without their full relationship being established, for the reason that their names have not been spread upon the records and the apparent clues are inconclusive.

LAWS RELATING TO BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.

Taken from the Colonial Records of Connecticut 1636-1665.

"April the Xth 1640."

And, also the Magestrate who solemnizeth Mariedge betwixt any, shall cause a record to be entered in Courte of the day & yere thereof.”
 “June the 3, 1644.”

“It is Ordered, that the Towne Clarkes or Registers in the Seuerall Towns within this Jurisdiction, shall each of them keepe a record of the day of mariedge of every person hereafter married wthin their librties, and of the day of the birth of euery child hereafter borne, to who the parent of the child shall within three days after the birth of his child certifie the day of the childs birth, and to who euery man that shall be married within three days after his mariedge certifie his mariedge day, vnder the penalty of 5s. euery default. The said Register is to receaue vid. for recording the day of mariedge & iid. for recording the birth of the child.”

The laws relating to these subjects are substantially the same in all of the colonies.

INTRODUCTION

A genealogy, while primarily an account of persons directly or indirectly connected with a certain family and a recital of their deeds, is, in a secondary sense, a recital of the deeds of those who bear the family name. It is difficult, indeed, to follow a genealogy through its manifold entanglements save by the clues afforded in the use of the family name or names, and it is therefore of primary importance to determine the variants of the original cognomen. The genealogy of the "Wheeler" family would be utterly incomplete, for example, if it did not include also the records of the "Wheler" and "Whaler" families; at the same time it would be incorrect were it to include the "Wheeland" family, which, in spite of the apparent similarity of the first syllable, seems to have sprung from an entirely different source and is the patronymic of an unrelated stock.

The name first appears in history in the eighth century, when one of the Saxon chieftains is recorded as bearing the name "Wielher." As the word shows progressive changes from that date onward, there is no great difficulty in tracing the character of that change. Thus, in the great Domesday Book of William the Conqueror, the name appears as "Weleret," the holder of the name being recorded as a landowner. "Hugh Le Welere" is mentioned on the One Hundred Rolls in 1273 and "Richard le Whelere" on the Close Rolls in 1348. The spelling "Wheeler" does not appear until later, not until a date which precludes its origin having borne any relation to a trade, such as a wheelwright.

Without entering into this question in too much detail, it may be pointed out that three dominant facts stand out from these early historical references. Of these, the significance of the early establishment of the cognomen comes first. No instance, prior to the ninth century, is known of an Anglo-Saxon family bearing on a surname from generation to generation, and there are not more than half-a-dozen in which a surname crops up frequently, every second or third generation. In such cases, these foreshadowed surnames, if such they may be called, are found in families strongly established, holding positions of quasi-chieftainship in their respective localities. When, therefore, the name "Wheler" is traced from the eighth century to the Norman Conquest, when it is found to have survived triumphantly the revolutionary overthrow of tenure in that Conquest and to have maintained its individuality until the period of the definite establishment of surnames, there is strong evidence of the solidity and enduring worth of the family that bore so honored a name throughout a period of such storm and stress.

Again, it is a matter of moment to note that in each case these early citations refer to landholders. In Saxon times, in the early period of the Norman Conquest and during feudal conditions, the position of "landholder" implied a great deal more than appears at first sight. Class distinctions were far more rigorous than they are to-day and the landholder was rarely a worker of his own land, rather an administrator. His land was farmed by villeins and tenants, the former representing the various forms of involuntary or voluntary servitude, the latter including the innumerable gradations from crop lien tenancy to approximate ownership. The more prosperous of this latter class developed into the yeomanry of England. Superior to all these were the landholders, from whom the knights were taken, or, to speak more correctly, who learned to serve in battle in such wise that they more readily fitted themselves for admission into the Order of Knighthood. Not all, however, entered military service, though nearly all sent a quota of armed men to the wars.

The third striking point is the meaning of the name "Wheeler" itself. For this, it is evident, determination must be made from the earliest form on record. How significant is this early appearance has been mentioned, a fact all the more remarkable when it is remembered that surnames do not appear in general use until the eleventh and twelfth centuries. This early spelling "Wielher" is evidently a compound of two Anglo-Saxon words "wel" or "wiel" meaning "prosperous" or "fortunate," from which derivation the modern word "weal" and "wealth" may be traced; and the Anglo-Saxon word "hari" or "heri" a warrior, a root traceable in the modern word "hero." The present spelling of the family name "Wheeler," therefore, is a spelling of words which in their modern form would be "Weal-Hero" or in the Anglo-Saxon words "wel-hari." The meaning of the family name, therefore, is clearly "the lucky warrior," or "the prosperous hero."

It may not be amiss to point out how utterly erroneous etymologically would be an attempt to trace the word "Wheeler" back to the combination of "Wheel" and the suffix "er." In the first place, at the time that surnames were being definitely determined, the name of the family was not spelled "Wheeler." In the second place, the wheelwright was not a distinct occupation as was the "Smith" and the "Carpenter," and the wheelwright and his ilk gave rise to the family name "Wright." Again, the very formation of the word "wheel" as an object made rather than as the name of a trade presupposes a different form of suffix from that which has been cited. To weave is a trade and in consequence there is the name "Weaver," but a web is an accomplished product and consequently there is no name "Weber" from this source ("Weber" is derived in far other fashion); but the name "Webster" is the outcome of "web." Even when trade and product are the same word this distinction can be noted, thus to "brew" will lead to the name "Brewer," while a “brew” is the origin of the name “Brewster.” Consequently, while such a name as “Whelster” might perhaps indicate an origin referring to the trade of a wheelwright, it is highly improbable that any of the variants of the “Wheeler” name can have been derived from this source.

In Colonial records alone the variations in spelling the old “Welhari” name are as follows: “Weler” and “Weeler”; “Wheler,” “Whelir” and “Whelor”; “Whaler” (which has nothing to do with whaling) and “Whalor”; “Wheelr” (probably a misspelling), “Wheelar,” and “Wheeler”; “Whealer” and “Whealor”; “Wheller,” and “Wheter” (which is probably a misspelling). It is notorious that great laxity of spelling persisted in colonial days in America, largely because pioneer life bred a disregard of fine distinctions of verbiage and because the occasions for writing the name were infrequent as compared with the present day. Bearers of any of the above names, however, may be reasonably sure of tracing back their ancestry to a Teutonic origin, and may rightfully think of their forbears as having been men and women of a rugged warlike race, fortunate upon the battlefield and prosperous upon their home estates, whose principal characteristic in those semi-barbaric times was that of solid worth. To this, the elapsing centuries have added honor and renown in many fields, and in America it is doubtful if any family can show a loftier standard or a more untarnished shield that can that one whose members, scattered throughout every State in the union, bear the name of “Wheeler.”

WHEELER FAMILY IN AMERICA

In America, prior to the year 1650, it may confidently be affirmed that no other one surname was borne by as many families as the name Wheeler. Numerous families bearing that name were domiciled in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia. In the New England colony Savage says that in the year 1640 there were in Concord alone thirty-five families bearing the name, and Hudson says that there were more families of that name in town than of any other.

That this large number of families could not all be closely related to each other is evident, although in some cases relationship is certified to by wills, and the degree of relationship between any fixed number of them is problematical. While the interlocking of relationship could be more widely established by search in England, it is by no means certain that all the links in the chain could be secured as many parish registers there were not kept at a period which would include the years when these entries must necessarily have been made. Such research, moreover, is definitely outside the scope of this work, in which the labor has been confined entirely to Wheeler families after their settlement in America.

The principal reasons for the emigration of the Wheelers from England naturally closely paralleled the causes which led to almost all the emigration at that period. Chief among these reasons was the infamous Act of 1593 which said "all persons above sixteen years of age, who obstinately refuse to attend divine service at some established church, should be committed to prison, without bail, until they should conform and make public confession of conformity, in terms prescribed by the statute itself." "This atrocious statute," said Edward Everett, "in its final result peopled New England."

Hopes that relief from the iniquities of this Act would be realized upon the accession to the throne of James in 1603 were grievously dashed when James himself said, "no bishop, no King; I will make them conform themselves; or I will harry them out of the land, or else do more—." The direct evidence that this religious persecution was the leading cause for the emigration is shown in a letter of Dr. Samuel Collins, Vicar of Braintree, Essex, written to Dr. Duck under date of Jan. 18, 1632, after Bishop Laud threatened to employ the arm of the High Commissioner against him for not forcing the parishioners to conform. "It is no easy matter to reduce a numerous congregation into order—" he said, and added, that "if he had suddenly fallen upon the strict practice of conformity he had undone himself and broken the town to pieces. Upon the first notice of alteration many were resolving to go to New England." He further explains that by this "moderate and slow proceedings" he has "made stay of some."

Charles I ascended the throne in 1625 and the following nine years were troublous ones for England. The struggle with the Crown for the maintenance of the constitutional rights of Englishmen and the conflict between the liberty of the people and the royal prerogative, in addition to a religious movement became part of the great political strife which resulted in Civil War and culminated in the death of the King. In 1627 many people of large means refused on constitutional grounds to pay the "Ship Money tax," or forced loan of Charles I because it was not levied with the consent of Parliament.

As early as 1629, Charles had summoned and prorogued four Parliaments because each had dared demand redress against the King's illegal acts — redress against the extortion of gifts and forced loans; against the arbitrary commitment to prison and the degradation of the judiciary. Charles resolved to govern without Parliament. For eleven years no Parliament sat at Westminster. For eleven years the king taxed his people without representation, and confined in the Tower those who questioned his right. The people of England rose in one mighty protest against such tyranny. They found their leaders in Elliot and Pym and Hampden. Political and constitutional liberty was dead, except as it lived in the hearts and memories of the Englishmen, who could not forget Rune-mede and Magna Carta. All of these things resulted in a steady stream of emigration of Separatists and Puritans, who sought toleration in Holland, and especially in America, recognizing the "special hand of Providence in raising this plantation." Green says that "between the sailing of Winthrop's expedition (1629) and the assembly of the Long Parliament (1640), in the space of ten or eleven years, two hundred emigrant ships had crossed the Atlantic, and twenty thousand Englishmen had found refuge in the West.

Individuals of the name of Wheeler appear in Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia, Connecticut and Pennsylvania as early as 1629 in some places, and in considerable numbers during the next five years in all the others except Pennsylvania. The Concord settlers came from Odell, Bedfordshire, twelve families according to Walcott embarking at London May 9, 1635, in the ship "Susan and Ellen" under the leadership of Rev. Peter Bulkeley, and later with the Rev. John Jones in the ship Defiance, landing Oct. 3, 1635.

The Rev. Mr. Bulkeley came from Odell in the Hundred of Willy, County of Bedford, England, where he was rector 1623-1629. He was suspected of Puritanism and suspended for nonattendance at the Visitation of Aug. 26, 1634. He confessed that he never used the surplice nor cross in baptisms. He was to appear before the High Commissioner on the first court day in November, "if he reformed not before."

Whether or not any of the Wheelers came at the same time as the Rev. Peter Bulkeley is a matter of conjecture, although the name is to be met with in every shire in England. It is absolutely certain that a number of them came from Wiltshire and Bedfordshire, and events show the close relationship between some of them and Mr. Bulkeley in America. It is presumable that this connection had existed prior to their emigration, but the evidence seems to point against the most prominent of them having come at that time. Indeed this evidence seems conclusive, for, as will be seen by a petition that appears elsewhere in this book, under date of Sept. 7, 1643, certain of them say, "Whereas your humble petitioners came into this country about four years agoe, and have since then lived at Concord —," which would indicate the time of their arrival as 1638-9. This would imply that these latter had followed at a later date taking time to dispose of property in England and to make the other preparations that would be necessary to people of substance with important affairs to administer. Everything indicates that the Wheelers were well-to-do, or even wealthy, when they arrived at Concord, and their position and possessions enabled them at once to assume prominence among the leading citizens of the town. It may be remarked that throughout the Colony generally matters of precedence were jealously guarded. Even to the seating of the meeting houses, this method was followed, and in the distribution of lands and favors, everyone ranked according to his "wealth, social position and prominence in the community." This same condition applies equally to the Maryland family, and to those of Connecticut, some of which were related to the Concord families.

In this regard the records denote the importance of the Wheelers, and their wealth. In many instances they are stated to have been the wealthiest individuals in their communities, which, by reason of their number, would naturally have made them the wealthiest family of their time. Colonial history contains many instances of their prominence as officers of trust for the colonists at large, while their untiring activity in military affairs and their unselfish philanthropy in military and ministerial affairs were as well known as their high importance in educational and civic matters. Welles American Family Antiquities says: "In the world of letters members of the Wheeler Family are preëminent, and the number of authors and their valuable contributions to theology, history, science, art, poetry, philosophy, and travels is something remarkable, and surpassed by very few."

KEY

When the numbers in the margin before a name appear in heavy face type it indicates that the person before whose name they stand is made the subject of an individual record, which will be found in the regular order of these numbers.

dence of God did marvellously appear; for the help that came to us by the Honored Council's order (after the tidings they received by our post sent to them) came not to us till Saturday, August 7, in the afternoon, nor sooner could it well come in regard to their distance from us, i. e. if we had not had help before that time, we see not how we could have held out, the number of the Indians so increasing, and they making so many assaults upon us, that our ammunition before that time would have been spent, and ourselves disenabled for any resistance, we being but few, and always fain to stand upon our defence; that we had little time for refreshment of ourselves either by food or sleep; the said Honored Major's coming to us so soon was thus occasioned; he had a commission from the Honored Council (of which himself was one) to look after some Indians to the west-ward of Lancaster and Groton, (where he himself lived) and to secure them, and was upon his march toward them on the aforesaid Wednesday in the morning, August 4th, when tidings coming to Marlborough by those that returned thither as they were going to Connecticut, concerning what they saw at Brookfield as aforesaid, some of Marlborough knowing of the said Major's march from Lancaster that morning, presently sent a post to acquaint him with the information they had received; the Major was gone before the post come to Lancaster; but there was one speedily sent after him, who overtook him about five or six miles from the said town; he being acquainted, that it was feared, that Brookfield (a small town of about fifteen or sixteen families) was either destroyed, or in great danger thereof, and conceiving it to require more speed to succour them (if they were not past help) than to proceed at present, as he before intended, and being also very desirous (if it were possible) to afford relief to them, (he being then not above thirty miles from them) he immediately altered his course and marched with his company toward us; and came to us about an hour after it was dark as aforesaid; though he knew not then, either of our being there nor of what had befallen us at the swamp and in the house those two days before.

The merciful providence of God also appeared in preventing the danger that the Honored Major and his company might have been in when they came near us, for those beastly men, our enemies, skilful to destroy, endeavored to prevent any help from coming to our relief, and therefore sent down sentinels, (some nearer and some further off) the furthest about two miles from us, who if they saw any coming from the bay they might give notice by an alarm. And there were about an hundred of them who for the most part kept at an house some little distance from us, by which if any help came from the said bay; they must pass, and so they intended (as we conceive) having notice by their sentinels of their approach to way-lay them, and if they could, to cut them off before they came to the house where we kept.

But as we probably guess, they were so intent and busy in preparing their instruments (as abovesaid) for our destruction by fire, that they were not at the house where they used to keep for the purpose aforesaid, and that they heard not their sentinels when they shot; and so the Major's way was clear from danger till he came to our house. And that it was their purpose so to have fallen upon him, or any other coming to us at that house, is the more probable in that (as we have since had intelligence from some of the Indians themselves) there were a party of them at another place who let him pass by them without the least hurt or opposition, waiting for a blow to be given him at the said house, and then they themselves to fall upon them in the rear, as they intended to have done with us at the swamp, in case we had fled back as before expressed. The Major and company were no sooner come to the house, and understood (though at first they knew not they were English who were in the house, but thought that they might be Indians, and therefore were ready to have shot at us, till we discerning they were English by the Major's speaking, I caused the trumpet to be sounded) that the said Captain Hutchinson, myself, and company with the town's inhabitants were there, but the Indians also discerned that there were some come to our assistance, whereupon they spared not their shot, but poured it out on them; but through the Lord's goodness, though they stood not far asunder one from another, they killed not one man, wounded only two of his company; and killed the Major's son's horse; after that, we within the house perceived the Indians shooting so at them, we hastened the Major and all his company into the house as fast as we could, and their horses in to a little yard before the house, where they wounded five other horses that night; after they were come into the house to us, the enemies continued their shooting some considerable time, so that we may well say, had not the Lord been on our side when these cruel heathens rose up against us, they had then swallowed us up quick, when their wrath was kindled against us. But wherein they dealt proudly, the Lord was above them.

When they saw their divers designs unsuccessful, and their hopes therein disappointed, they then fired the house and barn (wherein they had before kept to lie in wait to surprise any coming to us) that by the light thereof they might the better direct their shot at us, but no hurt was done thereby, praised be the Lord. And not long after they burnt the meeting house wherein their fortifications were, as also the barn, which belonged to our house, and so perceiving more strength come to our assistance, they did, as we suppose, despair of effecting any more mischief against us. And therefore the greatest part of them, towards the breaking of the day, August the fifth, went away and left us, and we were quiet from any further molestations by them; and on the morning we went forth of the house without danger, and so daily afterwards, only one man was wounded two days afterwards taken, confessed that there were killed and wounded, about eighty men or more. Blessed by the Lord God of our salvation, who kept us from being all a prey to their teeth. But before they went away they burnt all the town except the house we kept in, and another that was not then finished. They also made great spoil of the cattle belonging to the inhabitants; and after our entrance into the house and during the time of our confinement there, they either killed or drove away almost all the horses of our company.

We continued there, both well and wounded, towards a fortnight, and August the 10th Capt. Hutchinson and myself with the men there that had escaped without hurt, and also some of the wounded, came from them; my son Thomas and some other wounded men, came not from them, being not them able to endure travelling so far as from thence to the next town, till about a fortnight afterwards. We came to Marlborough on August the 14th, when Capt. Hutchinson being not recovered of his wounds before his coming from Brookfield, and overtired with his long journey, by reason of his weakness, soon after grew worse, and more dangerously ill, and on the 19th day of the same month, died, and was there the next day after buried;— the Lord being pleased to deny him a return to his own habitation, and his relatives at Boston, though he was come the greatest part of his journey thitherward. The inhabitants of the town also, not long after, men, women, and children, removed safely with what they had left, to several places either where they had lived before their planting or setting down there, or where they had relatives to receive and entertain them. The Honored Major Willard stayed at Brookfield some weeks after our coming away, there being several companies of soldiers sent up thither and to Hadley, and the towns thereabouts, which are about thirty miles from Brookfield, whither also the Major went for a time upon the service of the country in the present war, and from thence there being need of his presence for the ordering of matters concerning his own regiment, and the safety of the towns belonging to it, he through God's goodness and mercy returned in safety to his home and dear relatives at Groton.

Thus I have endeavored to set down and declare both what the Lord did against us the loss of several person's lives, and the wounding of others, some of which wounds were very painful in dressing, and long ere they were healed, besides many dangers we were in, and fears we were exercised with; and also what great things He was pleased to do for us, in frustrating their many attempts, and vouchsafing such a deliverance to us. The Lord avenge the blood that has been shed by these heathen, who hate us without a cause though he be most righteous in all that hath befallen us there, and all other parts of the country, he help us to humble ourselves before him, and with our whole hearts, to return to him, and also to improve all his mercies, which we still enjoy, that so his anger may cease towards us and he may be pleased either to make our enemies at peace with us, or may destroy them before us. I tarried at Marlborough with Capt. Hutchinson until his death, and came here to Concord, August 21, (though not then quite recovered of my wound) and so did others that went with me. But since I am reasonable well, though I have not the use of my hand and arm as before; my son Thomas, though in great hazard of his life for some time after his return to Concord, yet is now very well cured, and his strength well restored. Oh, that we could praise the Lord for his great goodness towards us, that he was pleased to spare so many of us, and add unto our days; he help us whose souls he hath delivered from death and eyes from tears, and feet from falling, to walk before him in the land of the living, till our great change come, and to sanctify his name in all his ways about us, that our afflictions and our mercies may guide us to live more to his glory all our days."

In connection with him the following letter, while it does not contribute much of historical value, possesses much interest:

"To the honored Governor and Councill of the Massathusets Colony in New England.

These are to signify that Cornellius Consert the Dutchman was Vppon the Contryes Servis att Quabauge and by the Council of Warre there was sent out Capt. of the forlorne And According to my best Advice Continued in the Contryes servis six weeks Cornellius being Reddy to depart the Country and myselfe being here att boston the Major Willard being Absent I granted this ticket.

Thomas Wheeler Capt.

He died at Concord, Dec. 10, 1676, the record of his death identifying him fully by stating explicitly that he was the "husband of Ruth."

His wife was Ruth Wood, a daughter of Wm. Wood. Whether they were married before or after his arrival in this country and if they were married before whether some of their children were born in England is not known; if the children were all born in America it is more than probable that they were born in the wilderness beyond the reach of records. He is said to have been the brother of Timothy No. 1900 and Joseph No. 9985.

6. JOSEPH WHEELER, son of Thomas (1) and Ruth (Wood) Wheeler. With his father Capt. Thomas Wheeler in abt. 1662 he had a farm upon the Merrimac River at Nashua, N. H. "a little south of the Salmon brood." In 1669 Lieut. Joseph Wheeler with Thomas Wheeler and eight other men petitioned the General Court for a tract of land containing about 14,000 acres, as well as for "the Indian plantation of Nashobah, that doth border on one side of this tract of land, that is exceedingly well meadowed, and they do make but little or no use of it." This land was granted to them "to make a villiage, provided the place to be settled with not less than ten famyles within three years, and that a pious, an able, and orthodox minister be maintained there." This grant resulted in the incorporation of the town of Stow, May 16, 1683. Upon the subject of this grant an old writer remarked: "It has since been proven that the land given under this grant will support more than ten famyles." In 1674 the house of Lieut. Joseph Wheeler, at Nashua, N. H., is designated as the place of holding a meeting of the Proprietors of that town. It has been said that he left Nashua, N. H., in 1675 during King Phillip's war and that he did not return. In 1677 he administered at Concord, Mass., upon the estates of his brothers Thomas and Nathaniel.

OF CONCORD, MASS.

100. GEORGE WHEELER. Probably of all of the Wheelers who came to America before the year 1640 none was of greater distinction or of more importance to the town in which he lived than George Wheeler of Concord. His name appears on the Concord records the 1st year they were kept and every year thereafter till he died. The circumstantial evidence of his having been the brother of Timothy Wheeler and of Capt. Thomas Wheeler is of the highest order. The English records make it quite clear that George Wheeler had a brother Thomas and Thomas is clearly proven to have been a brother of Timothy. With Timothy he owned considerable property jointly, and together they were in possession of most of the real estate left by the Rev. Peter Bulkeley. Authorities agree that George Wheeler came to Concord about the year 1638 with his wife Katherine and several children. Walcott in his History of Concord asserts that he was one of the few men who "were foremost in the town's business, by virtue of their large estates as well as their integrity and good judgment." He was a man of education, and the owner of a large amount of property, his house lot alone consisting of eleven acres, while he possessed lands in every part of the town, at Brook Meadows, Fairhaven Meadow, the Cranefield, by Walden Goose Pond, Flint's Pond, on the White Pond Plain, on the Sudbury line, etc. He held as many positions of trust and was as active in the direction of the town's affairs as any individual in Concord, serving at various times on substantially every committee of consequence, and leading in all matters of moment, as is evidenced by the fact that nearly every town deed and petition of any importance from either the Church or the civic community of that time bears his signature. His will, which is given here, is dated January 28, 1684-5 and was admitted to probate June 2, 1687, thus establishing the approximate time of his death.

113. JOHN WHEELER, son of William (101) and Hannah (Buss) Wheeler. Born at Concord, Mass., May 10, 1668. Killed by Indians at Oyster River (Durham, N. H.) April 27, 1706. It is almost certain that one of his children was killed at the same time as the administrator of his estate mentions the funeral expenses of a child dying practically the same date. No wife is named and three sons (minors) appear to have been sole heirs. The guardianship of these boys was granted to their uncle William Wheeler, of Concord, Mass., Dec. 10, 1711, at which time William & Richard were old enough to choose their guardian viz., (14 years) but Joseph was not. The account of the guardianship being rendered and allowed June 8, 1719, the wards had presumably come of age. June 13, 1719, William

Wheeler, "of Dorchester, Mass., carpenter," sells to Joseph Wheeler, "of Concord, Mass., tailor," all of his interest in the homestead at Durham, N. H., of his father, John Wheeler. On Nov. 17, 1727, Richard Wheeler, "of Concord, Mass., housewright," sells to Joseph Wheeler, "of Durham, N. H., yeoman," all his interest in the homestead at Durham, N. H., of his father John Wheeler.

He lived in Rutland, Mass., for a time and about 1766 removed to Hubbardston, Mass., where he was a prominent and highly esteemed citizen, and a deacon of the church. He served in the French and Indian War; and as Captain in the Revolutionary War, at Lexington, Charlestown, Bunker Hill, Newark, Stillwater, Albany, White Plains, etc. In the ill-fated Shay's Rebellion, he was next in prominence to Shay himself and figured almost as largely. Being of the opinion that the people were being done flagrant injustice, he raised a company of 100 men, and with 80 of them marched to Worcester and took possession of the court house, where his forces were increased by the townspeople, who were determined that no court should be held until they had obtained redress from their grievances. "On the steps were stationed a file of men with fixed bayonets, while in front stood Capt. Wheeler with drawn sword."

When the High Sheriff arrived and sought to address the insurgents, Capt. Wheeler informed him that he was one of their grievances, and that next to his person, were his fees, which were excessive and intolerable especially in criminal executions. The following letter is a clear indication of their desire for redress without actual recourse to arms.

"The Honorable General Lincoln, Sir:—As the officers of the people now convened in defense of their rights and priveleges, have sent a petition to the General Court, for the sole purpose of accomodating our present unhappy affairs, we justly expect that hostilities may cease on both sides until we have a return from our legislature. Your honour will therefore be pleased to give us an answer.

Per order of the Committee for reconciliation.

FRANCIS STONE, Chairman
DAN'L SHAYS, Captain
ADAM WHEELER.

Pelham, '1-31-1787

To escape the penalty for his participation in that affair he fled to Canada and remained there four years. In 1791 he petitioned as follows:

"The petition of Adam Wheeler to the town of Hubbardston: Humbly showeth that your pet<sup>r</sup> was at Pelham about 4 years ago, in the unhappy disturbance that happened in this country; and that Dr. Hinds has commenced an action against me which is gone to execution which is not in my power to discharge. Gentlemen, friends, fellow citizens, and neighbors: your pet<sup>r</sup> prays for help to discharge said debt and costs, which is £9-s4 d9, and your pet<sup>r</sup> as in duty bound will ever pray.

ADAM WHEELER.

The esteem in which he was still held by his townsmen is shown by this entry on the town records:

"Voted that the selectmen settle the debt of Capt. Wheeler in the best and easiest manner possible."

His education began in the public schools of the City of New York and was completed by his graduation from the New York College. Reared among affluent circumstances, he had the opportunity at the outset of his career of using a moderate capital in winning for himself a place in the field of commerce. He first engaged in the produce transportation business on the Hudson River in New York, where he conducted his enterprise for a period of ten years, but his ambition and his energy reached far beyond the confines of that eastern city and his keen perception grasped the possibilities and recognized the opportunities of the country. He studied the indications of business and trade expansion everywhere and recognized the fact that business success is dependable in large measure upon telegraphic and transportation facilities and in that field there is ample chance for enterprise to achieve substantial results. He, therefore, became interested in the construction of new telegraph lines, the building of new railroads and the development of new business projects, including the underground electric traction systems in Washington and in New York. In this age of intense business activity any factor is of value which aids in annihilating space and saving time, that the business center may be brought into close and immediate contact with its furthest outposts and that perplexing problems may have the benefit of immediate solution from the parent concern.

Studying all these conditions and the demands of the time, Mr. Wheeler has become closely associated with the projects that have met the needs of the hour and has as well looked beyond the exigencies of the moment to the possibilities of the future. The perfection of the telephone service interested him and he became a factor in the introduction of the automatic switchboard for telephone service. Directing his efforts to Chicago, with its limitless opportunities as a trade center, he was the originator, arranged the financing and became the prime mover in the building of over sixty miles of tunnels under the business section of the city, to be used as a transfer system for freight and as a terminal for steam railroads, and now known as the Chicago Subway.

Mr. Wheeler has been retired from active business for some years, but is financially interested in a large number of corporations, which have benefited by his keen discernment. His intuitive perception enables him to see from the circumference to the very center of things and to recognize at each stage of advancement its vital elements.

TIMOTHY WHEELER,
OF CONCORD, MASS.

Son of Thomas

bapt. 28 Dec. 1604 in Greatfield Beds., Eng.

1900. TIMOTHY WHEELER. Preëminent among the men of Colonial times who were influential by reason of their wealth, social position and official importance stands Captain Timothy Wheeler of Concord, Mass., the brother of George Wheeler and Captain Thomas Wheeler.

The date of his arrival in America is not fixed, but the fact that he joined the Concord colony as early as 1639, having come, it is claimed, from Charlestown, and became a freeman thereof May 13, 1640 is of record, and is the first mention of him that is to be found. He came from Odell, Wiltshire, England, and probably brought with him his wife Jane, who died in Concord, Feb. 12, 1643. His rise to prominence was very rapid after his arrival in Concord and his high influence in the affairs of the colony within a very short time is the subject of wide mention by all historians. His activity in the general welfare of the colony was continuous, and he took time from his military duties to serve on various town civil committees and serve as Representative for eighteen years, being a signer of almost every petition presented in the town's behalf during his lifetime there. He lived in the East Quarter of the town in the house of the then late Rev. Peter Bulkeley, the first minister of Concord, having taken over almost all of the real estate of that gentleman after his demise; this he did jointly with his brother George Wheeler. It was in that house that the treaty with the Indians was made in 1636 by which the tract of land six miles square was ceded to the "English Undertakers" to establish Concord.

May 6, 1646, he was made Ensign of the train band, or organized military company of foot soldiers, and later he became its Captain and was the head of the military magazine of the town.

In 1664 it was thought advisable to get from the Indians new and formal deed to the lands comprising the New Grant, and it is natural to assume that the town selected as trustees in such a matter its foremost men of high standing. The following deeds show for themselves the position of Captain Timothy Wheeler in this connection:

He was one of the early proprietors of Watertown, Mass., to which place he generously gave the land for its ministerial uses. Being possessed of a good education himself he earnestly desired the youth of Concord to have the advantages of learning, and to be sure of its establishment he made provision by gift to the town in his will under which the first regular school in Concord was established. He was very wealthy for the times, having property in Concord, Watertown, Mystic, Charlestown and Boston, etc., and by his various public gifts showed himself to be a high-minded man of generous instincts. He died at Concord July 30th, 1687, and is said to have been 86 years of age. He married (2) Mary Brooks, the daughter of Captain Thomas Brooks. She died Oct. 4, 1693.

His will and the will of his wife Mary (Brooks) Wheeler are here given:

DESCENDANTS OF
THOMAS WHEELER,
OF CONCORD, MASS.

2000. THOMAS WHEELER, of Concord, Mass. Of all of the Concord Wheelers whose descendants are readily traceable, Thomas Wheeler affords the fewest clues to his life-history. He was appointed Sergeant in 1642 and on the Concord Records from that time until his death, his name generally appears with that prefix, though sometimes he is called Thomas Wheeler, Sr. He is continually stated by genealogists to have been a nephew of Timothy Wheeler No. 1900, probably based upon the references by Timothy in his will to "my nephew Sergt. Thomas Wheeler," but by reference to that will the unlikelihood of this will be remarked in the fact that this Sergt. Thomas as far as known did not have a son Ephraim, and his son Joseph was dead when Timothy's will was made. All that has been found that can be stated of him as indisputable is given. Died Dec. 24, 1704, in his 84th year. Married (1) Sarah Meriam, who died Feb. 1, 1676. Married (2) July 23, 1677, Sarah (Beers) Stearns, the widow of Isaac Stearns. She died Jan. 24, 1723-4.

He was captured in the assault upon Quebec Dec. 31, 1775, and remained a prisoner until the August following. He afterward served in Col. Topham's Regt., of Rhode Island troops. Later he served on the sea where he was again captured and confined in jail in Ireland, his escape, according to family tradition, being made through the aid of Henry Grattan, the Irish patriot, for whom his son was named. He went from Rhode Island to Rensselaerville, Albany Co., N. Y., and in 1799 removed to Steuben Co. The History of Steuben Co., N. Y., says that the Town of Wheeler was named in his honor and that he was the first permanent settler there. He was a very large land owner. The following is a copy of a letter written by his grandson: Silas Wheeler.

WHEELER, STEUBEN Co., N. Y., Dec. 1st, 1852.

J. A. TRENCHARD, Esq.

LEXINGTON, GA.

Dear Sir: —

I received your kind letter in due time but press of business has delayed my answer. I am much pleased with your letter, and the views you entertain of Slavery — I thank you and shall ever feel grateful for the interest you have always manifested in the welfare of our family. You wish me to give you a short history of my Grandfather —, I will relate from memory such incidents as I have heard him tell us. His Father's name was Jonas — My Grandfather, Silas was born March 7th, 1752 in Concord, Mass. and lived successively in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York. He set up for himself in the world when quite young.

When the war broke out he went to the army or rather to the collection of men who did the first fighting. He was at the battle of Bunker Hill, and participated in numerous skirmishes with what they called the Refugees — which were I suppose Tories and foraging parties. While living in Rhode Island, a party came into the town to plunder the inhabitants. The men collected together with a brass six pounder and such firearms as they could gather to give the enemy battle. The women and children fled from their houses with such little articles as they could carry in their hands. My Grandmother had a child under each arm and a few light articles in her hands and as she ran she called to a cowardly young man who was fleeing with the women, to carry one of the children for her, but he replied that it was no time to be carrying children, and sped on as fast as his heels could carry him. My Grandfather volunteered with others to go with Benedict Arnold from Maine to Quebec, in the months of December I think it was, at least he said the snow was ankle deep. His shoes gave out and they had to wade and swim the rivers and streams, and at one time he was without food for seven days. The friendly Indians brought them a dog, and my Grandfather declared it was the sweetest morsel he ever tasted.

Out of some thirteen hundred who started for Quebec nearly one half starved to death on the way. My Grandfather had fifty guineas in money with him. He gave them to a comrade who carried the money until he fell dead from exhaustion. The money was left with the dead companion. Grandfather stood by the side of Benedict Arnold when he was wounded. The prisoners captured were put in prison and a small pox patient put in with them. Many died of that terrible disease. My Grandfather had it so bad that he lost all the hair off his head and ever remained bald headed.

My Grandfather had been in Newport when a British vessel was burned there, and he and three others from that place were singled out for a double portion of torture. They were made to live on small portions of sea biscuits filled with worms and moths, at night heavy chains were put on their legs and arms, and their bodies were laid across two crowbars, one under their shoulders and one under the calves of their legs. Two of them died under the torture, and they took my Grandfather out to hang him, and he expressed such great joy that his sufferings were to end now that they refused to proceed with the hanging, saying that they would not do anything that pleased him so well. After a long imprisonment he was exchanged and went on board a privateer. He was again made prisoner and taken to Ireland and remained in the Kinsale Jail about one year. The great Irish Patriot, Lord Henry Grattan, found means to inform the American prisoners that if they could break prison, he would assist them in getting back to their homes. My Grandfather and two others broke prison, and as they ran over the prison roof, and were leaping from the high walls beyond the prison bounds, the shot fell around them like hail but they succeeded in making their escape and hid in a swamp, and their great friend put them on board a vessel homeward bound.

My father was named for Lord Henry Grattan. After his return he volunteered and remained in the service until the close of the war. After peace was made he removed to Albany County, New York and from thence in 1798 to Steuben County, New York. When he first came here he lived one summer alone without other companions save the wild beasts of the wilderness. It would fill a book to tell you all the hardships and hairbreadth escapes which I have heard my Grandfather narrate. Hoping that the forgoing may be of some interest to you, I remain as ever

Your friend,
SILAS WHEELER.

DESCENDANTS OF
 THOMAS WHEELER,
 FAIRFIELD, CONN.

2700. THOMAS WHEELER. May be a brother of Ephraim No. 7900. He was undoubtedly born at Cranefield, Bedfordshire, England. The dates of his birth and baptism are not available, as the parish registers at that place were not kept until 1600, but it is recorded in these registers that Thomas Wheeler and Anne Halsey were married as early as May 5, 1613. He may have come to America with the Rev. John Jones' Company in the ship Defiance, which landed in New England Oct. 3, 1635, for, with his wife, children, and most probably some grandchildren, he was in Concord as early as April 17, 1636-7, when he was made freeman there. Of his life in Concord, substantially nothing is known. Being a supporter of the Rev. John Jones at the time of the dissension in the Church at Concord, he became one of those who removed with him to Fairfield in 1644, settling at Pequonnock, on Uncoway Brook, where his home lot of 2½ acres is recorded, Jan., 1649. This was at Black Rock. His will was dated Jan. 16, 1653-4, and proved Aug. 23, 1654, mentions his wife Ann. To his eldest son Thomas he gave all of his property in Concord. He also mentions his daughter Sarah Sherwood and her son Thomas Sherwood; and his grandchildren Mary, James, Thomas and John Bennit. His son John was made executor and was to receive the estate in Fairfield. The will of his widow Ann was dated Aug. 21, 1659, and probated Oct. 20, 1659, showing that her death occurred between those dates.

Children: (born at Cranefield, England.)

2703. WILLIAM WHEELER, son of Thomas (2700) and Anne (Halsey) Wheeler. Bapt. at Cranefield, Bedfordshire, England, March 16, 1618. He came from England with his father and with him removed to Fairfield where he settled at Stratford, on land given him by his father at Oronoque; later he removed to Delaware or New Jersey to settle, but died before removing his family. His noncupative will, probated Aug. 9, 1667, was attested to by Mirable Thompkins and Nathaniel Wheeler; and the inventory of his property is sworn to by Sarah Brooks as of her "husband Wheeler." She had married William Brooks after his death.

He removed to Fairfield in 1640 with his father and the followers of Rev. John Jones, and settled at Milford, where his wife Joan joined the church, and his children John and Samuel were baptized, Aug. 16, 1640. He was living in Milford and had a house-lot there in 1646. In 1649 he had a dwelling and several pieces of land at Fairfield, where he was then living on the east side of Uncoway Brook. This dwelling-house and house-lot he sold Jan. 21, 1653, and removed to Stratford, as is declared in the following deed of land from the Indians.

"This present writing witnesseth that I, Towetanome Sagamore, att pagaset and Raskonate, with the consent of all Pagaset Indians, Doe freely give a percell of land lying bee Twene Poodertoke River and Naugatuck River, Padertoke River bounding it on the Southwest, and Naugatuck River Northeast; and Bounded on the northwest with trees marked by ourselves and other Indians; to Thomas Wheeler of Stratford, his Heirs and assigns for ever quietly to possessit and doe free ye said land from all claims of any Indian or indians; and this afore said land wee doe freely give to the afore said Thomas Wheeler and his Heirs for ever upon condition that hee come to live on it himself; and if the said Thomas Wheeler seles the said land it must be to such a man as wee like; in witness here of we have sett toe our hands; May-1657.

At the General Court held at New Haven, May 26, 1658, Lieut. Thomas Wheeler of Milford, asked to have what he had purchased at Pangasset from the Indians, made a part of the jurisdiction of New Haven. In 1659 he was residing on that land, but in 1664 he sold it to Alexander Bryan for £200. He died at Milford Nov. 26, 1672, providing for his wife Joan, his son John and his daughters; his son Nathaniel and his wife Esther, who had removed to Newark, N. J.; and his sons Ephraim, Thomas and Joseph. He mentions his brother William of Stratford, and children William, Thomas and Sarah. His widow Joan died in January, 1673.

He then began the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1845, and was elected district attorney of Franklin county, which post he held until 1849. He was chosen by the Whig party to the assembly in 1849. In 1856 he joined the newly formed Republican party, in which he remained until his death. An affection of the throat compelled him to abandon the practice of law in 1851 and from that year until 1866 he was connected with a bank in Malone, and was President of the Northern New York railroad. He was a member and president pro tempore of the state senate, 1858-9, and was chosen to congress in 1860, but, after serving one term, returned to his banking interests.

He was President of the New York constitutional convention in 1867, returned to congress in 1869 and served continuously until 1877. During that time he was chairman of the committees on the Pacific Railroad Company and Commerce, a member of those on Appropriations and Southern Affairs and was the first in either house of Congress to turn his back-pay into the treasury, after the passage of the back-salary act. He was also the author of the famous "compromise" in the adjustment of the political disturbances in Louisiana, by which William Pitt Kellogg was recognized as governor and the state legislature became Republican in the senate and Democratic in the house.

In 1876 he was elected Vice-President of the United States, and he took his seat as presiding officer of the senate in March, 1877. On the expiration of his term in 1881, being again troubled with his throat, he retired to private life in Malone.

Edward Wheeler.

Edward Jewitt Wheeler, A.M., Litt.D., was the fifth of a family of eight children — five sons and three daughters. His father, Alfred Wheeler, D.D., was a Methodist minister of the North Ohio Conference and later of the Erie Conference. Edward J. was educated in the public schools of Sandusky, O., Berea, O., Meadville, Pa., Erie, Pa., Warren, O., and the Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, O. He graduated from the University just named in 1879, with grades which subsequently, when a chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa was established there, gave him the right of membership. In his senior year he was elected one of the editors of the college paper, the College Transcript, and was chosen Valedictorian by vote of his class. He received the honorary degree of Master of Arts, from his alma mater a number of years later, and in 1905 the degree of Doctor of Letters.

Immediately after graduation, at the age of twenty, he became editorial assistant to his father, then editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, and soon began contributing poems and short stories to periodicals in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, many of the poems being subsequently published by Funk & Wagnalls Company in book form under the title "Stories in Rhyme for Holiday Time." In 1883 he became an editor on the staff of the publishers just named and when they started The Voice, a reform political weekly, in 1884, he was made managing editor, continuing as such until the paper was sold in 1898 and transferred to Chicago. During all these years he was an active leader of the Prohibition Party in State and National Conventions and for several years secretary of the State Committee of New York. He wrote numerous leaflets, one of which, "The Evolution of a Crank," was circulated by the millions. In 1890 he published a book, "Prohibition; the Principle, the Policy, the Party," which was used for years as a sort of text-book by Prohibition party organizations. In 1890, he became editor in general for the Funk & Wagnalls Company, taking personal charge, from 1895 to 1905, of The Literary Digest, and being a member of the board of directors and of the executive committee of the house.

Residing during the period of 1890-1903 at Westerleigh, Staten Island, Mr. Wheeler became active in local organizations, being for years president of a building and loan association, president of a collegiate institute, president of the Citizens Union of Richmond Borough, etc.

In 1905 he became editor in chief of the monthly magazine Current Literature (now Current Opinion), and in 1913 president of the Current Literature Publishing Company, planning and supervising various literary works such as "Science History of the Universe" (10 vols., edited by Dr. Francis Rolt-Wheeler) and "Great Debates of American History" (14 vols., edited by Dr. Marion Mills Miller). In 1910 he was active in organizing the Poetry Society of America, of which he became the first president.

THOMAS WHEELER,
STONINGTON, CONN.

3900. THOMAS WHEELER.

The following from the History of Stonington, Conn., by Judge Richard Anson Wheeler (4153) is, perhaps, the best expression of all that is known of his life:

“Thomas Wheeler, the ancestor of the Wheeler family of Stonington, Conn., and region round about, was doubtless of English origin, but the place of his birth, and nationality are not certainly known, nor has the time of his migration to this country been ascertained, so as to associate him with any of the passengers of the early emigrant ships. The first knowledge that we have of him in this country is when he appears as a resident of the town of Lynn, Mass., in 1635, when and where he was elected constable, and held other official positions later on. In 1642 he was admitted to the privilege of a freeman of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, purchasing large tracts of land there, including a mill site, upon which he built and operated a saw and grist mill. During his residence in Lynn he married Mary — —, a young lady of his acquaintance, whose family name is unknown, but our family traditions represent her as a woman of pleasing and attractive accomplishments, and in every way worthy of her liege lord; she graced her domestic duties with cheerful loveliness, filling his home with light and love. They were married in 1645, and became the parents of three children.

What induced our ancestor, Thomas Wheeler, to leave Lynn, Mass., and sell out his business and real estate there, and take up his abode in the town of Stonington in 1667, is not fully understood, but whatever motive actuated him in coming this way it is plainly evident that he intended to make Stonington his final home. He was an intimate friend of Rev. James Noyes, who came to Stonington the same year that he did, and it has been supposed that the friendship between them was the cause of his coming. Be that as it may, there were men of his name that lived in the English home of the Noyes family, and crossed the ocean about the same year that he did. Thomas Wheeler was made freeman in the Connecticut Colony in the year 1669, and was nominated and elected one of the Stonington representatives to the Connecticut General Court in the year 1673. The next year his name appears among the immortal nine who organized the First Congregational Church of Stonington, June 3, 1674, and his wife, Mary Wheeler, was one of the partakers with the church in their first communion service. Soon after Thomas Wheeler and his wife came to Stonington to live, he and his son Isaac built them a residence in North Stonington, where Col. James F. Brown now resides, where they lived and died. Thomas Wheeler left a will, which was lost by being burned when the infamous Arnold burned the city of New London, Sept. 6, 1781. The existence of his will is proved by his descendants referring to it in later instruments conveying the real estate that belonged to him and given to them in his will. They are both buried in the old Whitehall burial place, situated on the east bank of the Mystic river. He died March 6, 1686, aged 84 years, consequently he was born 1602."

But his wife aspired to a more active business life, and to gratify her wishes he changed and enlarged his house, making it two stories on the south, and one on the north, with show windows on the west, which were utilized for a variety store by Madam Wheeler, who became the leading merchant of the town, buying all of the surplus farm products of the region round about, which she sent to Boston and the West Indies for a market, in exchange for goods necessary for the planters of the town. Alone she made equestrian trips to Boston, where she purchased her dry goods. She was not only the leading merchant of the town, but her mansion house was the center of all the neighborhood families. He was born in England about <sup>5 Dec. 1609</sup> 1608, and died at Concord, Mass., Oct. 27, 1671. 5595. GEORGE ISAAH WHEELER, born Nov. 20, 1848, at Lynn, Mass.

5591. BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER was born at Randolph, Massachusetts, on July 15, 1854, the son of the Rev. Benjamin (5562) and Mary Eliza (Ide) Wheeler. His father was successively a church pastor in Plaistow, New Hampshire; Pawtucket, Rhode Island; Randolph, Massachusetts; Haverhill, Mass.; Saco, Maine; Franklin, New Hampshire. His mother, Mary Eliza Ide, was born in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, daughter of Ebenezer Ide of the Ide family which had its origin in South Attleborough, then Rehoboth. Their only son, Benjamin Ide Wheeler, had his education first in the public schools of Haverhill and Saco, Maine. It was at Saco that he first entered a high school in 1866. This high school was the institution which formerly had been called Thornton Academy, and has since resumed that name. On removing in 1868 to Franklin, New Hampshire, he entered the Franklin Academy, and after a half year there went to the New London Academy, now called Colby Academy at New London, New Hampshire. From this school he was duly graduated in the summer of 1871. In the following autumn he entered Brown University from which he was graduated in 1875. His studies at college followed the usual curriculum without any suggestion of specialization. On the commencement stage he had the honour of the classical oration. During his college course he received the Dunn premium, given for the best work of the year in the department of English, with special reference to writing and speaking, and also one of the Carpenter prizes given to the two students of the year who in the opinion of the faculty combined in the highest degree the elements of success in life. After graduation he taught for four years in the Providence High School. During the first two years he instructed mostly in mathematics; during the last two his work was about evenly divided between classics and mathematics. In 1879 he was appointed Tutor in Brown University to take the place, during a temporary absence of two years, of Professor Poland, Assistant Professor in Greek and Latin. On June 25, 1881, he was married to Miss Amey Webb of Providence, Rhode Island, dau. of Henry Aborn Webb, a banker of Providence, Rhode Island, and Amey Gorham Webb (dau. of Jabez Gorham, founder of the Gorham Silver Manufacturing Company). For four years, 1881-85, Mr. Wheeler studied in German universities—for a year at Leipzig, then for two years at Heidelberg, a half year at Jena, and a half year at Berlin. In the spring of 1885 he received on examination at Heidelberg the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, summa cum laude, presenting a thesis entitled "Der Griesche Nomen Accent," afterwards published at Strasburg as a separate book. On returning to America he was for one year Instructor at Harvard, 1885-86, then for thirteen years Professor at Cornell University, holding at first the title Acting Professor of Classical Philology, 1886-87, then of Professor of Comparative Philology 1887-88, and from 1888 to 1899 that of Professor of Greek and Comparative Philology. In 1899 he became President of the University of California at Berkeley, California, where he now remains. During the year 1895-96 he was Professor of Greek Literature at the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, and during the year 1909-10 Roosevelt Professor at the University of Berlin. He is member of the American Oriental Society, the American Philological Association, and the Kaiserliches Archaeologisches Institut. He has received the degree of Doctor of Laws from nine different American universities, Princeton, 1896; Harvard, 1900; Brown, 1900; Yale, 1901; Johns Hopkins, 1902; University of Wisconsin, 1904; Dartmouth, 1905; Columbia, 1906; and the degree of Doctor of Letters from the University of Athens in Greece. He is author of Analogy in Language, 1887; Introduction to the Study of the History of Language, 1890; Dionysos and Immortality, 1899; Organization of the Higher Education in the United States, 1896, published in Munich; Life of Alexander the Great, 1900; Instruction and Democracy in America, 1910 (published in Strasburg, Germany).

DESCENDANTS OF
MOSES WHEELER, OF NEW HAVEN, CONN.

5700. MOSES WHEELER, of New Haven, Conn., died March 1, 1698, aged 100, and was buried in the churchyard of the Old Congregational Church at Stratford, Conn. Married Miriam Hawley. It is said that he came from Kent, England, his ancestors having originally lived in Hertfordshire, and that he came to New Haven from London in 1638, probably with the New Haven Company. He was among the first to receive an allotment of land at New Haven in 1643.

The date of his removal to Stratford is not known, but he was living there in 1648 when the privilege of the ferry across the Housatonic River was granted to him by the General Court. He was a ship carpenter by trade, and, in addition to building vessels, engaged in farming the lands of which he was an extensive owner, and he became one of the leading and influential men of Stratford. In 1670, the town leased to "Moses Wheeler, ship carpenter, the ferry with thirty or forty acres of upland and six of meadow joining to the ferry, for 21 years, without tax or rate, except sixpence per annum during said lease," and the inhabitants were to be "ferried over for one half-penny per person, and two pence per horse and beast."

About ten years before his death he gave most of his property to his children: to Moses Jr., Samuel and Jacob Walker he gave the tract near Derby that he had bought from the Indians about forty years before, and by his will dated Feb. 19, 1689-90, his son Samuel received the homestead and all pertaining to it. This homestead, according to Samuel's will of Nov. 30, 1689, lay "at ye upper end of ye upper Island," probably in the Housatonic.

6357. DEXTER WHEELER, born May 5, 1770; d. April 18, 1835; unm. He was in many respects a remarkable man. All his energies and thoughts were toward mechanics and mechanical inventions and he possessed marked abilities in that direction. In early life he was engaged in the manufacturing of shovels, forks and other small farming utensils, and this industry was moved and afterwards developed into the large manufacturing concern of Oakes, Ames & Co.

Dexter Wheeler was one of the first inventors to apply to the United States for a patent after the establishment of the U. S. Patent Office. March 4, 1811, there was issued to him a patent for a tide mill. He devised machinery for spinning cotton yarn by horse power on the old Wheeler homestead. Later he was associated with others in erecting a cotton mill operated by water power, in the village of Rehoboth, and in 1813, in company with his cousin, David Anthony, organized the first regular cotton cloth manufacturing enterprise at what has since become the City of Fall River, Mass. He also engaged in the manufacture of cotton machinery.

Ill health, however, forced him to abandon his growing manufacturing enterprises, and, acting upon the advice of his physician, he sold out his interest in the Fall River factories and sought to regain his strength in the healthier out-door life of a farmer. He went to what was then the West and contracted to purchase a farm in the town of Venice, Cayuga County, N. Y., located one mile south of what is now Poplar Ridge postoffice, sometimes called Smith's Corners. After making the purchase, he went back to Fall River, intending to return to the farm the following Spring after making the necessary business arrangements, but died soon after going back to Fall River.

6360. CYRENUS WHEELER, son of Jeremiah (6250) and Elizabeth (Thurber) Wheeler. Born at Rehoboth, Mass., Aug. 13, 1791; died July 4, 1887, at Venice, Cayuga Co., N. Y. Married (int. at Rehoboth, Mass., Feb. 24, 1816) Thirza Dillingham Evans, of Berkeley, Mass., who was born April 1, 1796; died Feb. 13, 1884, dau. of Robert Evans. Immediately after his marriage he began farming in the town of Seekonk, a short distance from Rehoboth. In 1822 he left his farm and joined his brother, Dexter Wheeler, in his business at Fall River. The death of his brother compelled him to take possession of the property at Venice, Cayuga Co., N. Y., in 1835.

Married (1) Jan. 6, 1841, Harriet Kendall, who was born at Venice, N. Y., Nov. 11, 1819; died May 22, 1843, dau. of Charles Kendall and Hannah (Benjamin) Kendall. Married (2) June 26, 1845, Susan K. When Cyrenus Wheeler, Jr., was about 4 or 5 years of age his father removed from Seekonk to make his home at Fall River, Mass., and it was at this place that he received his early education. The more urgent duties of life soon took him from school; and while little more than a lad he entered the cotton factory of his father and uncle. It was congenial work, and his application and mechanical tastes were such that when he was but 17 years of age he was able to perform all the various mechanical processes required to convert the raw material into the manufactured cotton cloth. It would have seemed the natural course of events for him to continue in the business for which he had trained himself, and to identify himself with the rapidly growing and expanding enterprise of manufacturing cotton cloths and calicos, for which this Massachusetts city has become celebrated. Events, however, shaped his career otherwise.

In 1815, after the death of his uncle Dexter Wheeler, he went to Venice, Cayuga County, N. Y., with his father, and was left in charge of the farm while his father returned to Massachusetts to bring on the other members of the family.

Soon after reaching his majority he became the owner for himself of a farm of one hundred and fifteen acres adjoining that belonging to his father. Although all his previous training had been in mechanics and machinery, he was no ordinary farmer. His mind was too active to be content to follow in the old ruts. He tried new methods of cultivation, new grains and new rotation of crops. He experimented with various fertilizers, recording and profiting by the results.

He thoroughly subdrained his farm. He planted fruits of all kinds and omitted nothing within his means to make his farming successful.

But the natural bent of his mind was, nevertheless, towards mechanics. On his farm he fitted up a carpenter shop and supplied it with a lathe and other tools. His thought naturally turned to the improvement of farming implements. He invented improved feed-cutters, corn planters, and hay forks. Nothing, however, of any considerable importance was done in the way of inventions until his attention was given to the construction of mowing and reaping machines. The invention and sale of mowing machines was then in its infancy. Only one or two different kinds of machinery were made at all. These were crude and clumsily constructed, and had not been generally introduced.

Cyrenus Wheeler's mind became thoroughly aroused to the subject and he reflected and studied on the difficulties to be overcome, and in 1853, he put into use upon his own farm a mower and reaper, which contained the first results of his inventions and improvements upon that sort of machinery. As in the case of many other inventors, his attention and study of mowing and reaping machines was turned to the subject by a comparatively trifling circumstance. In the summer of 1852 there was held at Geneva, N. Y., the first public trial of mowers and reapers ever held in this state. A neighbor of his was present; and on his return reported what he had seen and the result of his observations. The trial had not been entirely satisfactory and his neighbor expressed the opinion that a mowing machine could never be successfully operated owing to the difficulties inherent in the character of the grass, the fact that the cutters of necessity would have to travel in close proximity to the surface of the ground, and the difficulty of keeping the cutters sharp enough to do the work. He mentioned the further difficulty of following the uneven surface of the ground close enough to mow the grass satisfactorily.

The machine first put into actual use on his farm in the Summer of 1852 was pronounced by all a great success. It was built at Poplar Ridge, one mile north of his farm, and within a few feet from the identical spot where Mr. Jethro Wood made the first cast iron plow ever built in the history of man. It is an interesting coincidence that the modern plow and the first mowing machine embodying important inventions in the branch of agricultural machinery should each have been built at these little country Four Corners.

He applied to the United States Government for patents on his inventions, and on December 5, 1854, and on February 6, 1855, the Patent Office issued to him patents covering the features of his improvements.

From 1852 to 1882 he devoted his thought and time almost exclusively to the perfection and prosecution of his various improvements in mowing and harvesting machinery. During that period twenty-four different patents for inventions and improvements made by him in mowers and reapers were issued to him. Many of them were, of course, of more or less minor importance. Others, in addition to those first described, were of great practical use and advantage.

In 1854 he added a platform, a reel and rake seat, making the mower a combined harvester and mower, being the first two-wheeled machine converted into a combined mower and reaper ever built.

In 1856 he invented a self-raking attachment, and on February 9, 1864, took out a patent for a peculiar arrangement of the gearing, so that the same could be enclosed and boxed in metal cases, and kept free from the dust and dirt incident to the operation of the machine in the field, which otherwise clogged the gearing and caused it to be rapidly worn. This particular improvement has been extensively and generally used since in almost all the machines put upon the market.

The simple statement of the nature and character of his inventions and improvements gives a very inadequate idea of the difficulties which he encountered in developing his inventions. He lived on a farm 16 miles from Auburn, the nearest city. He had no adequate shops or facilities at command for even doing the mechanical work necessary in constructing a machine. All the patterns needed for building the first machine were made by himself in the little shop on his own farm. There he labored diligently during the Winter of 1852 and 1853. The parts were finally cast and the first machine put together at the little four corners of Poplar Ridge. It was with difficulty that even the necessary castings could be obtained, to say nothing of the requisite gearing and gear wheels required. Every part was to a degree experimental, both as to efficiency and strength. In addition to the lack of proper facilities the proper experimental machines, he was very much hampered by the need of pecuniary means to prosecute his work and experiments. Few things are more expensive than the making of an entirely new machine without models, patterns, castings, or other machines for guidance. He was a young farmer, with nothing but an unpaid-for-farm on his hands, and he soon found that the money at his command was exhausted. To obtain the necessary funds he was compelled to borrow. But such money as his friends were ready to advance was soon exhausted. His father aided him to the extent of his ability, but more than once expressed doubts about ever seeing a return for his advances, saying he "thought Cyrenus was spending a great deal of money for which he would never receive any return." Other kind friends who had faith in the ultimate financial success of his inventions loaned him sums of money to go on with his work.

In order to obtain means to further perfect and develop his machines, he was compelled to sell and assign the larger part of his interest in his inventions to others, so that in later years, when the value and usefulness of his improvements became recognized by the public and the use of his patents yielded a large financial return, the inventor, whose brain and perseverance had made such return possible, received as his share only a comparatively small proportion of the royalties and fees paid by the users.

While he never sought public office, he accepted several public positions at the urgent solicitation of the people, and not because he desired them. He stood ready to perform his whole duty in every walk of life, to bear his share of public burdens, but he never sought place simply for the sake of place. While living on the farm in Venice he served four terms, or twenty years, as Justice of the Peace of the town. Upon his last election as Justice he received every vote cast, except two. He was invariably addressed as "Squire" by his neighbors.

In addition to filling the office of Justice of the Peace of the town, he was for two years its supervisor, and one year school inspector. For some time, however, prior to his moving to the city of Auburn his labors and business became such that it was no longer possible to give time to the discharges of the duties of the public offices. In 1881, however, at the urgent solicitation of many friends he consented to accept the nomination for Mayor of Auburn, and he was elected for three successive terms, and again elected in 1889 for a fourth term, acting as the city's chief executive for eight years.

His work for the public did not end with the holding of municipal office. He was actively identified with most of the leading charities of the city and gave to each the same thoughtful service which characterized the man. His sympathy with misfortune and poverty was warm. No one called on him for relief in distress and went away empty handed. His gifts to public institutions and charities were always liberal, but no one knew the extent of his giving for the relief of the poor and unfortunate.

Poor and struggling inventors especially had his sympathy, and many of them had not only received the benefit of his judgment and advice as a mechanical engineer, but substantial financial assistance in the building of experimental machines and in procuring necessary patents.

For four years he was president of the board of trustees of the Auburn City Hospital, president of the board of trustees of the Cayuga Asylum for Destitute Children, a member of the board of trustees of the Home of the Friendless. He was also president of the Cayuga County Savings Bank, an institution which managed in trust the small savings of the people.

H., of his father John Wheeler. That he went to live in Durham is evidenced by a deed from his other brother, dated Nov. 17, 1727, in which "Richard Wheeler of Concord, Mass., housewright" sells to "Joseph Wheeler, of Durham, N. H., yeoman," all of his interest in the homestead at Durham, N. H., of his father John Wheeler.

That he was the only surviving son is shown by the following deed dated Oct. 30, 1765: "Benjamin Wheeler, late of Durham, in the Province of New Hampshire and now resident in Gardners Town (so called) in the County of Lincoln in the Province of Massachusetts Bay Blacksmith" and wife Elizabeth, and "Daniel Edgerley and his wife Hannah in the Right of ye said Hannah of the Town or Parish of Madbury in the Province of New Hampshire and Abigail Wheeler of Durham afores<sup>d</sup> single Woman and Spinster being all of the Heirs of Joseph Wheeler late of Durham afores<sup>d</sup> deceas<sup>d</sup>, to Daniel Warner, of Portsmouth, land in Durham "which being the Estate of our honoured Father Joseph Wheeler late of Durham afores<sup>d</sup> Taylor deceased."

He removed to Maine about 1767 and was one of the first settlers at Hampden, Me., where he built and ran a saw and grist mill, which was at first called Wheelersboro after him.

Tradition has it that he was killed by an Indian for money he carried in his belt. Papers of administration were granted to his widow Elizabeth July 5, 1784. She died before July 20, 1811, when administration was granted to the son Benjamin. Sept. 28, 1762, Division of the Estate of Robert Burnam, "late of Durham, gentleman," mentions Robert Burnam, grandson "for his share and for the Share of Elizabeth Wheeler Daughter of the Deceased."

Nov. 30, 1706, Joseph Wheeler and his wife sold the pond called "Wheeler's Pond" to Giles Dyer. The sale was evidently questioned and disallowed, as, in 1753, the pond was sold to David Wheeler. Suffolk Deeds 24-58: "Sarah Peck, Widow, deposes that she heard widow Pearce tell her son Joseph Wheeler to fence in the pond as it belonged to her former husband, Thomas Wheeler. Roger Judd testified that widow Planting and Joseph Wheeler always claimed the pond and from 1660 he had never heard that the town claimed it while widow Planting forbade others the use of it and was paid by others for it's use."

JOSEPH WHEELER,
OF CONCORD, MASS.

8600. JOSEPH WHEELER, of Concord, Mass. Married April 10, 1705, at Concord, Mass., Sarah Ball, who died there June 24, 1748. He died there Oct. 15, 1732. There were only three individuals by the name of Joseph Wheeler, born at Concord, Mass., that would have been of marriageable age in 1705, viz.:

1. Born Nov. 27, 1679, the son of John No. 2021.
2. Born Nov. 11, 1680, who appears in this book under No. 17635.
3. Born Jan. 11, 1680-1, who appears under No. 17636.

Which of these married Sarah Ball, if one of them did, cannot be determined. As no other Joseph has been found that did marry any person with the given name of Sarah, at, or about, this period it is assumed that the following children whose births appear on the Concord Records as the children of "John Wheeler and Sarah his wife" are his, although there is no proof of it.

Children: (born at Concord, Mass.)

8601. JOSEPH WHEELER, born Dec. 24, 1705.
8602. JOHN WHEELER, born May 25, 1707.
8603. MARTHA WHEELER, born Aug. 4, 1709.
8604. MIRIAM WHEELER, born July 11, 1711.
8605. ABIJAH WHEELER, born Dec. 3, 1712. Probably same as No. 12,218.
8606. JERUSA WHEELER, born April 17, 1715; d. Jan. 9, 1715-16.
8607. ELEAZER WHEELER, born Jan. 12, 1716; d. Jan. 26, 1716.
8608. EZRA WHEELER, born Dec. 3, 1717.
8609. ESTHER WHEELER, born May 3, 1720. Her record will be found under No. 17,459.
8610. NEHEMIAH WHEELER, born March 20, 1721-2.
8611. ZACHARIAH WHEELER, born April 30, 1724.
8612. SARAH WHEELER, born Feb. 17, 1725-6.

8601. JOSEPH WHEELER, son of Joseph (8600) and Sarah (Ball) Wheeler. Born at Concord, Mass. It is probable that the following children are his as he is the only Joseph, Jr., that appears in Concord at this period, and the birth of one of the children is entered as of "Joseph Wheeler, Jr., and Sarah," and of others of "Joseph and Sarah."

Children: (born at Concord, Mass.)

8613. JOSEPH WHEELER, born March 10, 1724.
8614. JERUSA WHEELER, born Sept. 11, 1726.
8615. SARAH WHEELER, born April 7, 1729.
